Storm Extends Beyond Sun

The storm which struck the Evansdale section yesterday morning and obliterated probably twenty dwelling houses, stables, tobacco barns and outhouses, and which started about a mile south of Evansdale, reached across Toisnot swamp and the last damage done as far as we can learn was near Holden's Cross Roads midway between Holden's Cross Roads and Wilbanks, a distance of about ten miles.

Pieces of timber, bedding, roofing and household furniture were carried a distance of from two to three miles. Planks, which were thrown near the home of Mr. Lee Woodard at Sun, were identified as having been picked up at Evansdale four miles away. On the east side of Toisnot Creek on the farm of Mrs. Aycock, who lives in Raleigh, and Mrs. J. R. Uzzell, who lives in Wilson, and the land of Mrs. Frank Barnes adjoining the creek were found pieces of roofing and even tobacco barn poles taken from the farms of Messrs. John Corbett and David Woodard at least two miles away.

There are nine members of the family of Mr. Frank Batts in a local hospital, suffering with broken arms and legs, scalp wounds and bruises. All are getting along as well as could be expected. Money is being raised to help the storm sufferers. The Merchants Association last evening voted $100 to help them. There are probably twenty five people hurt more or less by the storm, but there was only one death, that of the wife of Hiram Falks, colored, who was killed by a piece of scantling.

The storm from Evansdale continued its way across the creek where it scattered all manner of debris on the lands of Mr. James Woodard, who brought us yesterday afternoon pieces of timber and parts of fences and houses picked up on the east side of the creek which were identified as parts of the buildings at Sun.

The body of the storm passed in the rear of Mr. Lee Woodards and blew down porches, tobacco barns, trees and packhouses on the lands in that section belonging to Mrs. Uzzell, Mr. James Woodard, and Mrs. Aycock. It continued on to the Calvin Woodard farm on which resides Mr. Oscar Owens and tore down a pack house. It moved a barn near the saw mill at Mr. Lee Woodards and blew down a tobacco barn on the Daniel place, and also a big tree. It then went on towards Wilbanks and blew down a tree at the home of Mr. Oscar Proctor's and a barn and rolled the cotton and corn stalks up in the fields.

"ROYAL FLUSH"

KILLED POKER PLAYER

New York, March 7.—Shock at the sight of a "royal flush" in his hands is believed to have been responsible for the death of Max Witkofsky of 31 Wall Street, Newark, who dropped dead yesterday while playing cards with friends. According to the police he was a victim of heart disease. While Witkofsky was playing poker at the home of Michael Eisenberg at 250 Prince Street, Newark, and when the game was at its height he received the highest hand that can be held. Other players in the game waited for him to speak. He suddenly toppled over, dead.

MERRY MATRONS

MEET THURSDAY.

The Merry Matrons will meet Thursday afternoon at 3:30 with Mrs. Ed. Warren.

NURSES WILL HOLD

QUARTERLY SESSIONS.

The Nurses' Association, Wilson District No. 8, in regular session here yesterday afternoon voted that district meetings be held quarterly instead of monthly as has been the rule. The local nurses will hold monthly meetings, the district meetings being held quarterly.

The meeting yesterday was presided over by the vice president, Miss Lillie Boyette, in the absence of the president, Miss Mary Belle May. Mrs. J. W. Palmer was a pleasant guest of the meeting. Miss Lill Chapman of the Atlantic Christian College pleased the nurses with several piano numbers. Miss Charlie Grey Raulens, also of the College, gave a clever reading.

A salad course was served during the social hour.
